DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 1-42 are pending in the application.
2. Claims 1-42 contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:
 - a. One embodiment drawn to a liquid crystal display device, comprising a compensation film and a first polarizer disposed on the first panel, the compensation film having phase retardation characteristics; and a second polarizer having a supporting film disposed on the second panel, the supporting film having phase retardation characteristics, [fig. 1].
 - b. Another embodiment drawn to a liquid crystal display device, comprising a first polarizer having a first supporting film disposed on the first panel and a second polarizer having a second supporting film disposed on the second panel, wherein phase retardation of the first supporting film ranges about 40 nm to about 60 nm in the horizontal direction and about 120 nm to about 160 nm in the vertical direction, and phase retardation of the second supporting film ranges about 0 nm to about 5 nm in the horizontal direction and about 100 nm to about 140 nm in the vertical direction, [fig. 3].
 - c. Another embodiment drawn to a liquid crystal display device, comprising a first polarizer having a first supporting film disposed on the first panel and a second polarizer having a second supporting film disposed on the second panel, wherein the phase retardation of each of the first and second supporting films ranges about 40 nm to about 60 nm in the horizontal direction and about 120 nm to about 160 nm in the vertical direction, [fig. 5].

d. Another embodiment drawn to a liquid crystal display device, comprising a first polarizer having a first supporting film disposed on the first panel and a second polarizer having a second supporting film disposed on the second panel, wherein the phase retardation of the first supporting film ranges about 50 nm to about 70 nm in the horizontal direction and about 210 nm to about 250 nm in the vertical direction, and the phase retardation of the second supporting film ranges about 0 nm to about 5 nm in the horizontal direction and about 50 nm to about 60 nm in the vertical direction, [fig. 7].

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, it appears that claims 1 and 12 are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
